Delays All Around. Owing to the trouble experienced at the power station, Tuesday morning, by the ice clogging the water wheel, the power was shut off and caused the deal of inconvenience to their customers. At the Spinnery and Radcliffe shoe shops nearly all the employees depending on the power to work with, went to their homes and manufacture was generally suspended. The electric lights also depend on this station for power stopped running for a short time but were soon running on regular time again.

Oliver Shackley. Oliver Shackley, well-known about Norway where he has lived, passed away at his home on Pleasant street, last Sunday afternoon. His death was caused principally by heart disease. Mr. Shackley left his home Sunday for Mrs. Joseph Harris' saying he did not feel as well as usual, but nothing was thought of this as he has not been in good health for some time past, being subject to heart trouble. He arrived at the house and after making a call he started for home. When he reached the sidewalk on Main street, just in rear of the Advertiser office, he was taken with a severe attack and although he was given warming drinks by Mrs. Al Cook, who first noticed his distress, he did not rally but grew rapidly worse and in a few minutes was unconscious. He was lifted aboard the car that happened along about that time and taken to the end of the line and from thence carried to his home on Pleasant street. He spoke but once from the time he was taken ill and then expired shortly after reaching home. Mr. Shackley was born in Norway in 1837, the son of Ebenezer and Cyrena (Hall) Shackley. As a young man he was employed in his father's store and later he enlisted and served in the Civil war. He married twice but was divorced and his two wives and one daughter, Mrs. Agnes Blake of Locke's Mills survive him; also five sisters, Mrs. Caroline Hall of Weymouth, Mass.; Mrs. Sarah Bartlett, Norway; Mrs. Marie Faunce, Norway; Mrs. Angelina Carpenter, Weymouth, Mass.; Mrs. Mary Hooper, wife of Rev. W. W. Hooper; and one brother, Eben Shackley of Norway. He was a member of Harry Rust Post, No. 54, G. A. R., of this village and was also a staunch Republican. Mr. Shackley had lived, since his mother's death a few years ago, with his sister's family, Frank W. Faunce, in the house that had been for many years the home of the Shackley family. For a few years past he has had the care of Witherell Park and the Norway look-out. The funeral was held from his late residence, No. 6, Pleasant street, Tuesday afternoon. Rev. W. W. Hooper officiated at the services.

Azel K. Bumpus. Azel Kinsley Bumpus died at his home in Norway, Nov. 19, 1901, aged about 80 years, 9 months. Mr. Bumpus was born in Hebron, March 16, 1821, the son of Samuel and Rebecca Kinsley Bumpus. As a boy he attended the public schools of his native town and later attended the Hebron Academy. Feb. 19, 1846, he married Francina Tucker of Bethel and she with five children—George W. Bumpus, city clerk of Auburn; Nancy E. Davis, widow of a late M. S. Davis of Auburn; Martha L. Perry, farmer of Turner; Louisa Francina Gammon, farmer of Norway; Horatio Azel Bumpus, shoemaker, Auburn; and grandchild and seven great-grandchildren survive him. He lived in Hebron until he came here, fourteen years ago, with the exception of four years spent in Winthrop and one year in Auburn. Mr. Bumpus has always tilled the soil and has also held the office of first selectman of the town of Hebron several times. In religious faith he was a Universalist. He belonged to Hebron Grange. The funeral services were held at his late residence in Norway, Nov. 22, Revs. B. Franklin Fickett and S. D. Richardson officiating, and the interment took place at Hebron.

Mrs. W. S. Chandler. Mrs. Abbie E. (Adams) Chandler died at her home on Hazen street, of consumption, Tuesday, Nov. 26, aged about 25 years. She had been confined to her bed but ten days. Mrs. Chandler was born at Mechanic Falls, Nov. 20, 1876, and was the daughter of Charles H. and Marion B. (Reed) Adams. She was educated in the public schools of that place and Fairfield and West Paris. In 1898, she married Walter S. Chandler of Norway, and he and three small children—Harold aged 6 years, Frances aged 4½ and Evelyn aged 3—survive her. In religious faith she was a Universalist. She was never united with any church, and was a member of the Christian Endeavor. The funeral services will be held at the Congregational church, Friday, Nov. 29, at 10:30 a. m. Rev. Mr. Rideout of Norway will officiate, assisted by Rev. F. E. Barton of Bethel.

Mrs. George Austin. Mrs. Lottie E. Austin died at her home on Main street, Tuesday, aged 64 years, 1 month and 17 days. Mrs. Austin was born in Norway, May 9, 1837, the daughter of William E. and Abigail Dunn, and was educated at Page's Mills, near Mechanic Falls. When a young woman she married George Austin and she survived him by only a few months. One son survives her, George Austin of this place, proprietor of the Austin Machine Shop. She was a member of the Methodist church. Funeral was held from her late residence on Main street, Thursday, Nov. 28, at 2 p. m. Rev. B. S. Rideout, pastor of Congregational church, officiating.

J. O. Crooker's Hardware store will be closed Thanksgiving day. He has recently put in a telephone and completed C. P. Barnes' furnace. O. P. Perley of Melrose, en-route for Harri-son to visit relatives in that town. Mr. Perley, some years ago was largely interested in banking in Nebraska. We stated in last week's issue that Benjamin Tucker bought his milk route from Wm. Cushman of Paris. "Who established the first permanent route in the village." The mistake has been called to our attention and we wish to correct our statement. W. H. Sweet, father of E. N. Sweet of this village, had a route in Norway and South Paris and run it for six years before Mr. Cushman put in an appearance. Then for about two years they ran in opposition when Mr. Sweet sold out his Norway route to Mr. Cushman and only covered Paris. He retired from the business several years ago.

Frank Briggs is home, this week, from section work on the railroad. He is getting the poplar ready for hauling. Mrs. C. A. Briggs and daughter went to Lewiston, last Friday. They are now visiting at H. R. Bonney's, South Paris. There is quite a call in this part of the town for men to work in the woods, chopping wood. Help is very hard to find. We understand that Mrs. Columbia Cole has been to the Central Maine General Hospital for treatment. Mrs. Cole is with her daughter, Mrs. Horace Tuttle, for the winter. W. H. Doten is to open a barber shop in the True building, formerly occupied by Dr. Littlefield, as soon as the necessary repairs have been made.

BETHEL. Joseph P. Gaudet. Joseph P. Gaudet, died, Sunday, the 24th inst., at the Riverside House with pneumonia, aged 84 years, 9 months. Mr. Gaudet came from Prince Edwards Island ten years ago and has been an industrious and honest laborer. He met with a severe accident in the mill near John James' on Sunday River soon after he came here, by which he lost the four fingers and a portion of the right hand up to the thumb. With this disability he proved himself a desirable man in the woods, handling a pick, lever or the reins over a four-horse team with the best of them. His body was taken to Prince Edwards Island for burial. Colonel C. S. Edwards is able to be out on pleasant days. Two inches of snow and hail fell on Monday, which will improve our sleighing. Charles Farwell and wife are in Lovell caring for Benjamin W. Andrews, Mrs. Farwell's father, who is very sick. Benjamin W. Andrews of Center Lovell has lately been granted a "renewal and increase" pension through Grover's agency, Bethel. Daisy Dixon is staying a short time with her aunt, Mrs. L. T. Barker. She has been in Portland learning the work of a trained nurse. L. T. Barker went to Gilead, Monday, to attend the funeral of Perley B. Heath, who died suddenly, last Saturday morning, was found dead in bed. Rev. F. E. Barton and wife, L. W. Ames and wife, Mrs. O. M. Mason, Mrs. E. L. Edwards and others attended the Centennial of the Universalist society at Norway, last week Wednesday. Slain deer are continually being reported from the near vicinity, and the singular feature in the case is the fact that nearly all of them are bucks, many of which are large with fine antlers. Rufus Rice, who solicited aid for Harry Brown, last week, has secured over one hundred dollars, notwithstanding the rebuff he met with from one of our prominent men on first starting out. The rebuff seems to be thrown back by nearly every citizen of the village, who have added their willing mite to the worthy cause. Harry Brown is a young barber in our village and an honest, industrious citizen. He has a wife and two fine children that he sets his life by. Two weeks ago he had an operation for appendicitis and is doing finely, though not out of bed yet.

FRYEBURG. An Academy Orchestra Formed. An orchestra has been organized in Fryeburg Academy consisting of the following pupils, Max Newman, violinist; A. Osgood Pike, 1st cornetist; Ned Page 2d cornetist; R. W. Cousins, clarinetist; Elta E. Burbank, pianist. Bert Walker has secured a job in Brownfield for the winter, driving a team. Etta and Alice Burbank spent Saturday and Sunday with friends at Center Conway. Quite a snow storm Sunday night, followed by rain. Hardly enough snow for sleighing. We are glad to see that T. L. Eastman has so far recovered from his injuries as to be out. A clam chowder supper and entertainment was held at the Congregationalist vestry last Thursday night. Alice Glines who teaches in Wolfboro, N. H., is enjoying a two weeks' vacation at her home on Oxford street. Ira Warren, who met with a sad accident last week, is at the Maine General Hospital in a critical condition. The Grand Army Post held a campfire at their hall Saturday afternoon and evening. Several were present from surrounding posts. T. W. Charles is having his store, stable and hall wired for electric lights. The lights will be used for the first time at the Red Men's ball. J. W. Hubbard has received an appointment to a clerkship in Washington, D. C., and has left the employ of the A. R. Wyman & Sons Co., at the chair factory. A large delegation from Nerves Lodge I. O. G. T., East Conway, visited Center Lodge last Tuesday evening and presented a fine program for the good of the order. The Center Lodge provided an oyster and pastry supper. Leo Anderson of Chatham, shot two deer one day last week without moving from his tracks. He saw one near a large tree, took aim and fired, breaking the deer's back. Presently another one appeared from behind a tree which he quickly dispatched. Two days later, Mr. Packard of this village shot two on Oak Potter shot one on the same day which dressed 165 pounds.

ALBANY. Fletcher Bean and daughter Marion from Mason visited at Frank Bean's, this week. Maggie Flemmins, who has been at work for Mrs. Caroline Cole, is going to spend the winter in Auburn. School closed at Elm's Corner, Friday. Tranna Brown, who has been employed as teacher, is to attend Normal School at Gorham. Nina Bean, Perry Bean, Leslie Cummings and Roscoe Andrews are at home from attending Oak Academy for a vacation of two weeks.

WE DON'T TRUST

to any but the most experienced chemists in the preparation of

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy

Why? Because it isn't safe. All ingredients used must be the purest and freshest and combined in the exact proportion each time. You will never find any difference in our Favorite Remedy. Each bottle is a "twin brother" of its predecessor.

We advertise our Remedy especially for BLADDER AND KIDNEY TROUBLE, as this is the most general disease in the country; but if you have any blood disease it will cure it equally well. We have some especially strong testimonials regarding the curative power of our Remedy in cases of Eczema, Salt Rheum, Rheumatism and other kindred troubles arising from a disordered state of the blood.

If you will drop us a postal, we will send you free our Booklet A. It is full of good, instructive reading and testimonials from well-known people. For ladies, too, our Remedy is just the thing, as almost all female troubles come from diseased kidneys, and it is so much pleasanter for them to take our Favorite Remedy than to put themselves under the care of a physician, with the attendant disagreeable features. The next time you feel "run down" buy a bottle of our druggist. Only $1.00.

The Gloom of the Seasons.

Oh, the gloom of November, drenched of cheer, Enshrouding the earth as a pall o'er the bier. It stealthily comes like a thief in the night, Dismissing the summer for the winter's cold night.

"Tis the gloom of November, each year in its turn, That parting of seasons may ever be found; Adding year upon year to our borrowed time, Since our dawning day is laid in its line.

In the gloom of November we dread what's before, The cold of the winter the sun's courses will lower, Excluding the beauties of the orb of the day, In the gloom of November the first light of day Came over our vision in the long far away.

Old Nature unkindly never lavished of wealth Of the greater of boons of the treasures of health. So we've traveled life's journey, quite off in despair, From alms and languor, enshrouded by care, Quite faithless of pictures the sages unfold, Of those hallowed visions which the faithful behold.

And the gib of the sophist, his beautiful While the blood-stained flags of the nations unfurl, To drive men to murder, for plunder and spoil, To Christianize heathen on all foreign soil.

'Tis the gloom of the seasons, the sin of the age, A traveler everlastingly perishing and engage, Where nations are drunken in body and soul, That the few may govern—GILBERT TILSON.

Scrofula, with its swollen glands, running sores, inflamed eyelids, cutaneous eruptions, yields to Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Porter he was taken to Rumford Falls.

Repairing Neatly Done

Never thought of such a sign for a medicine did you? Well, it's a good sign for Scott's Emulsion. The body has to be repaired like other things and Scott's Emulsion is the medicine that does it.

These poor bodies wear out from worry, from over-work, from disease. They get thin and weak. Some of the new ones are not well made—and all of the old ones are racked from long usage.

Scott's Emulsion fixes all kinds. It does the work both inside and out. It makes soft bones hard, thin blood red, weak lungs strong, hollow places full. Only the best materials are used in the patching and the patches don't show through the new glow of health.

No one has to wait his turn. You can do it yourself—you and the bottle.

This picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion and is on the wrapper of every bottle. Send for free sample.

A Thanksgiving Legend.

At the block stood "Hiawatha" with his tomahawk uplifted To smite the children From his hand which wasn't needed. For the tribe was met in council, And the time was ripe for slaughter, And the time was ripe for slaughter, And the time was ripe for slaughter.

According to traditions Of the tribe, 'twas ancient custom Of the chilling breath of winter, The benumbing exhalations Of the spirit of the North Wind, Frightful the dark-need people Of the tribe of "Hiawatha," To catch the chicks-birdies, And the time was ripe for slaughter.

When the tribes were fierce and restless, Then the tribes were fierce and restless, Then the tribes were fierce and restless, Then the tribes were fierce and restless.

Then the war chief, Rolling Thunder, Who had snuffed the smoke of battle From the nostrils of the North Wind, To the young men, and the maidens, And the youths, and the maidens, And the youths, and the maidens, And the youths, and the maidens.

And "Hiawatha" grunted, And said he was just a-go'n' to, And was also thinking of it, And was also thinking of it, And was also thinking of it, And was also thinking of it.

For the time was ripe for slaughter— He smote the chicks-birdy, The net of the pumpos, And the time was ripe for slaughter.

Then Red Buttery rushed forward, The belated Hiawatha, His pretty Minnehaha, With hair like leaves in autumn, And a most becoming scalp-lock, And a voice like laughing water, When it flows over pebbles, When it flows over pebbles, When it flows over pebbles.

Ever thus did Minnie ha ha, Even so he and she, And she straightway the chicks-birdy, And she straightway the chicks-birdy, And she straightway the chicks-birdy, And she straightway the chicks-birdy.

Like the leaves of many forests, Whirled abroad like idle tourists, Who to the northward, Always moving but unseeing, Ever going but unseeing, Whose brain up-stretch freedom As a new sieve holdeth water.

And the loosened feathers fluttered Over the edge of the horizon, To the windward and the leeward, Drifted slowly downward, Or floated quickly downward, Or floated quickly downward, Or floated quickly downward.

Until as many fragments, Filled the atmosphere, Filled the atmosphere, Filled the atmosphere, Filled the atmosphere.

By a sudden wind, Filled the atmosphere, Filled the atmosphere, Filled the atmosphere, Filled the atmosphere.

And some were carried westward To the lands of the Chicago, There to decorate the natives.

A few loafed 'round the northland Among old friends and neighbors, As the brave and victorious Vikings, Where they saw the little children Of the moody cow and gentle.

White men were waded southward To the land of the magnolia, To the land of orange blossoms, To the land of many tulips, "But that's another story."

RIGHT UP TO DATE. (Benson's Plaster is Pain's Master.) These are days of records and of the beating of records. Benson's Porous Plaster, for quickness of action and thoroughness of cure, has no records to beat except its own.

Benson's Plaster, always the best, always the leader, is to-day better than ever. It sticks to the skin but never sticks in its tracks. It matches on.

The people not only want to be cured but cured quickly—and Benson's Plaster does it. Coughs, colds, lumbago, asthma, rheumatism, liver and kidney complaints, and other ills approachable by an external remedy, yield to Benson's plaster as to heat.

Neither Belladonna, Strengthening or Opioid plasters are to be compared with Benson's. People who have once tested the merits of Benson's Plaster have no use for any other external remedy.

THE HEART

Many Human Woes Traced to Nervousness and Dizzy Spells which Dr. Greene's Nervura Overcomes.

Mrs. Minnie Miller, 5 Guthrie Street, Fort Wayne, Ind., says: "For many years I had dizzy spells, palpitation of the heart, and numbness of the feet and hands. These attacks came often and each time worse. My life was a burden to me, and I would have been glad to die."

"At times I thought I was going mad. My stomach was so bad that I could eat nothing but the very lightest food, and every little thing would make me feel faint. I would have been glad to die."

"I saw Dr. Greene's Nervura and nerve remedy advertised and read the testimonials of those who had been afflicted as I was. I thought I would try it. Wonderful relief came. The first bottle helped me so much that I had faith in it. I took two more bottles, and Oh, I feel so much better. I can sleep soundly and the nervous feeling is almost gone. I can eat with a good appetite and have gained seven pounds."

SOUTH HIRAM.

Dedication of the Pythian Hall.
The crowning efforts of the several committees connected with the erection and completion of the new Pythian hall, home of Ossipee Lodge, No. 40, was witnessed this evening, (Nov. 20th) by over 400 spectators.

It will be remembered that the old Pythian hall was destroyed by fire several months ago. Immediate steps were taken to erect a new one, and in its place, perhaps a brief description of the new one would not be out of order. It was designed and built by Freeman Ross, a contractor of noted reputation. This was his last work, living but a few weeks after its erection. The lodge room itself is furnished with an elegant carpet, chairs, pedestals and a beautiful altar, its walls are decorated with portraits of prominent Knights of this Lodge. The room is entered from the street by a covered stairway.

Opening a door at our right we are ushered into the banquet hall which is finished in hard wood with a Georgia pine floor. In its west end is erected a suitable for all entertainments. The building is lighted entirely by electricity and heated by a furnace.

The formal opening was made by C. C. P. W. Benton, introducing the president for the evening, Jeremiah Bullock, who announced the programme of exercises. The devotional exercises were omitted as the pastor was unavoidably detained.

The exercises were very beautifully opened with a selection by Mendelssohn's Quartette, which was greeted with prolonged applause for several minutes.

The first speaker of the evening was P. C. Dr. S. A. McDaniel, who delivered the address of welcome which he so beautifully expressed was, that it was not to their building alone, but to the principles of Pythianism also, that they were welcome. His discourse covered the order's motto, "Friendship, Charity and Benevolence." In closing he said in part, "But another beautiful and shining star, the insignia of love, has been added by the Pythian Sisterhood."

The following number on the programme was a solo by Dr. Nickerson. Encore was a comic selection.

The next speaker, W. D. French of Portland, formerly of Portland, made a very interesting speech in presenting the altar which was a piece of his own handiwork. Mr. French said in part, "Oratory is not one of my strong points, so my remarks to-night will be few and to the point, leaving the more interesting and eloquent discourses to several very capable speakers who are present. It is a pleasure to be once more rubbing elbows with my fellow Knights of Ossipee Lodge in which I have been enrolled for nearly a score of years. Brothers, there is something in Pythianism. If it were not so this handsome castle hall would not be here, to-night, neither would we be here. The beneficial effects of our motto, Friendship, Charity and Benevolence are widespread and cover much more than the dictionary definitions of the words. Older members have become imbued with the spirit that pervades our order and the younger members cannot fail to profit by their example."

New recruits take the place of those who drop out and the growth of the order is assured in its permanence. Here in Ossipee Lodge I feel at home as nowhere else. To be sure I see about none of the familiar portraits, stamens and other furniture and paraphernalia of Ossipee Lodge, and a few of the faces that were wont to be seen in those days of lodge meetings are missing. Our lodge has progressed, grown and prospered. Even fire could not stop or diminish its onward strides and when one morning we were pained to learn that our lodge home and all that it contained—many relics that were dear to our hearts by long association—had been destroyed, there were mingled with our sorrows, hopes and plans for a better room, better facilities for degree work and for a new home that should be in every way superior to the old. We all know by what we see here to-night how well the hopes have been realized."

In presenting the beautiful altar, Mr. French said in closing, "I present this altar to Ossipee Lodge hoping that it may not be valued by its commercial worth, but rather as a slight tribute to one who will soon rank among the old members, who is anxious to show even in this mild way a deep and lasting interest in this lodge and all that pertains to the order."

A heartfelt response to the presentation was made by Jeremiah Bullock in behalf of the lodge.

Solo, "In Maytime," by Miss Hall. This pleasing selection was followed by the dedication ceremonies. As the exercises were slow in beginning, the interval was filled with special numbers by courtesy of quartette.

The dedication was performed by Grand Vice Chancellor acting as Grand Chancellor, assisted by W. D. French acting as G. V. C.; Luther Roberts as G. M. at L.; Supreme Representative, E. O. Reynolds as G. P., and Chas. Butler as G. K. of R. Solo by Miss Varney, "A Rapodist." Miss Varney has a sweet voice and the selection was rendered in a very creditable manner.

The address by Supreme Rep. E. C. Reynolds was very witty and humorous and the audience was in just the best humor possible during his discourse.

Duet by Dr. Nickerson and Mrs. Bowdoin, "The Hunting Song." G. V. C., Clarence L. Bucknam, made a brief, instructive speech on Pythian prosperity. Solo by Mr. Bowdoin, "Gypsy John."

The rest of the exercises were hurriedly rushed along as the hour was getting late. The remaining speeches were brief but very good.

The closing speech of the evening was made by Past Rep. Luther B. Roberts, which was well savored with witty and spicy remarks, just the one that was needed to prepare the people for the feast and appetizing.

P. S. Farmer has been confined to his home of late with a severe attack of rheumatism.

Rev. J. D. Graham was in Portland the first of last week, to attend the ministerial meeting held in that place.

The members of the order have a house of which they should be proud, as it is a fitting emblem of prosperity.

KEZAR FALLS.

Lighted by Electricity.
The woolen mill, Garner's Block, Garner's residence and Dr. Devereux's have been lighted with electricity for a number of years and with satisfactory results. The Knights of Pythias have recently adopted the same modern method of lighting, and there are others ready to fall into line. The cost of electricity apart from the wiring, is said to be about the same as kerosene.

A course of lectures will be given next month under the auspices of the Epworth League. The first lecture—Great Battles and Their Results—will be given by Rev. F. C. Potter, next Monday evening in the M. E. church.

The First Thanksgiving.

The Thanksgiving season is one approached with gladness by all. The youngsters live for days on the sweet memories of mince pies and turkey of the year before, and on that sweetest of childhood dreams, having all they could eat. To the grown-ups it brings the pleasure of family reunions, the happiness of good work done during the year drawing to a close.

How many know about the first Thanksgiving sermon ever preached on New England soil? We venture, very few. Turn back the pages of history to the very earliest part of the seventeenth century, for it was on Aug. 9, 1607, that the Popham colony sailed into Monhegan harbor, on the coast of Maine, as appears in the records of Lambeth Place as follows:

"We kept our course west by north * * * and those other islands we saw laying * * * about eight leagues distant. * * * We bore in for one of the islands, found very deep water, forty fathoms, good anchorage under it, and stood into a cove in it and had twelve fathoms of water. There we found a cross set up, and on Sunday, 9th of August, in the morning, most part of our company of both ships landed on this island."

Where the cross stands there we heard a sermon delivered unto us by our preacher, giving God thanks. Popham Colonies, pages 101-2.

It is recorded in Richard Sewall's "book entitled 'Ancient Voyages to the Western Continent,' and we quote from it as follows:

"The rays of the morning sun of this memorable day in 1607 had started to spread beams of light on the tall thickets of oak, beech and fir when led by the aged and godly chief in command, Captain George Popham, the colonists embarked to land a worshipping congregation, with no doubt all the usual incidents of a public Sunday service of the English church, from spicing of the shore, and with all the solemn and reverent formalities of the worship of that church. The scene must have been grand and imposing. It was the first Christian formal Thanksgiving at, least in New England and celebrated in Maine the Eastern parts of early New England history. Noblemen were in command, in execution of a Royal State discipline. Royal naval routine duties and discipline must have governed to enforce exact obedience to royal nautical usage. The sunrise gun had already saluted the day as he rose out of the mists of the eastern sea, to shed effulgent freshness on the cliffs of the main and island environments of the ships' anchorage, where side by side they still lay, dressed in the gorgeous drapery of St. George's cross for a Sabbath welcome."

"The piping of the boatswain's mates sent shrill echoes from ship to shore and through the oak and beech groves, calling to man the boats and all hands to worship God. The officers in full uniform—musketiers without match—locks, brawny tars in naval costume, colonists in holiday attire, making a congregation of a hundred and twenty souls, more or less, embark and are boated to land. Reaching shore, they march to the old grove and enclose it with a hollow square. The English Jack may lead the way. It is a formal, national, religious demonstration for state purposes, in celebration of a national achievement. At the foot of the cross all are gathered in devout attitudes, and over all no doubt the flag of England waved the sanction of royal authority. The sunlit branches of the old treetops are the canopy, and the copse wood surroundings of living green are the wall to a natural sanctuary."

"Rev. Richard Seymour, in cassock and in bands, with the Bible and the book of common prayer in hand, proclaims the word of God in the wilds of Maine, and kneeling before the cross, for the first time on the soil of New England, in the English tongue is heard: 'Almighty and most merciful Father! we have sinned and strayed from Thy ways like lost sheep. O Lord, open thou our lips.' The psalm of a hundred living voices tunes the air, and rises in incense of praise to God. The groves and headlands of Monhegan and baltic crags of Menanias (Little Island in Indian language) catch and repeat the echoes. Thanksgiving songs break from the congregation. The cornet and drum may take up the sacred refrain till from shore and shipboard, over the placid sea, the praise of the worship of God is wafted to the wilds of Maine, over the ragged shores of Penauquid, announcing the advent of a christian civilization of Europe for New England planting. Seymore preaches a sermon. The benediction is announced and doxology sung. God is honored."

"The soil of Maine at Monhegan for all New England becomes consecrated ground, in this scene of God-honoring service and limited acts of christian English homestead life and civilization."

"Bird's Island," Dec. 6th.
The drama entitled "Bird's Island," to be given under the auspices of the Pythian Sisterhood, will be held on Friday evening, Dec. 6th, and promises to be well worth attending.

Music will be furnished for the occasion by Stearns' Orchestra of twelve pieces and the scenery will be varied and beautiful.

The cast of characters was published in the issue of Nov. 8th and we here-with give a general synopsis of the various scenes during the evening.

In the first act the scene is around Rayburn's house on "Bird's Island," off the Florida coast, and introduces the principal actor in the drama, Alfred Rayburn, the owner of the island, who discovers that he is becoming blind and he decides to send Stella, his daughter, to New York that she may not learn of his misfortune. This act also introduces several other of the prominent characters including Dr. Fontaine, Rayburn's physician, "Bobbette," a creole servant, and a Spanish dancer.

The scene of the second act is laid at the home of Richard Selwyn, one of Rayburn's friends in New York. Selwyn is a peculiar old fellow and eulogizes on his health and Mrs. McKinley's ancestry. This act also introduces Madame Helga, Stella's governess, and Arthur Powers, an Englishman in love with Richard Selwyn, an American girl, He's "Gertie."

In the third act the scene is laid at the same place as the preceding one and in which several "quarrels" are "enjoyed by the audience."

The fourth act is the last and closes the drama in such a way that all comes out right as usual. The scene takes us to the interior of Rayburn's house on "Bird's Island." We hear that Selwyn says "it is a case" but what he means we can't explain. He'll tell you the 6th. Larry is homesick and Rayburn's eyesight is restored by an operation. Everybody loves everybody else and the whole family is reunited. The play lasts two and one-half hours and promises to be one of the best presented by amateur talent in this town for a long time.

Mothers' Meeting.

The Mothers' Club meeting was postponed, last week, because of the Universal Centennial. The next meeting at the vestry of the Methodist church on Wednesday, Dec. 4, at 2:30 p. m., will combine the subjects of this meeting and the meeting that was postponed. The subjects are "Baby's First Dress, First Bed and First Food."

All women will be welcome. Come and get some new ideas for your relatives or friends, if you don't need them for yourself. No child can be brought up by any exact rule, but mothers need to get all the information they can, and then apply to the individual child what will best fit him.

The problem of bringing up a child rightly is a grave and often perplexing one. Every mother in her thinking, serious moments will grant that she wants to do all in her power to help her child to develop the very best that is in him. She wants him to be strong physically, mentally and morally. Sometimes the way seems hard and puzzling. There are things in the Mothers' Meetings that will help you, mother. Come and see for yourself.

First Pulp Mill in Maine.

Mr. A. Pagenstecher, president of the Hudson River Pulp & Paper Co., New York, is authority for saying that the first pulp mill in this State was started by S. Newman at Norway in 1869. Mr. Pagenstecher furnished him with three machines.

This mill was located at Steep Falls and was operated for some time but financially was not a success. We had been informed that the first wood pulp in this country was made here but in this we are in error as Mr. Pagenstecher tells us that the first pulp mill in the United States was started in 1837 at Caribvee, Mass., and the machines were made under the Voelter Patent of which he was the owner.

Hebron Academy met, Wednesday, in its game with Coburn Classical Institute on the home grounds, its first defeat of the season by a score of 11 to 6. Up to the Coburn game Hebron had not been scored on and had defeated Bridgton Academy by a score of 21 to 0; Rumford Falls High School, 16 to 0; Leavitt Institute, 46 to 0; Gould Academy, 12 to 0; Westbrook Seminary, 25 to 0. This will be of interest to Norway people aside from its pride in an Oxford county school, for Fred Lafarrier of our village is the instructor in athletics.

Nov. 22, Burnside A. Long of Norway was arraigned for intoxication. He had just served a sentence of 60 days in jail for the same offence and as the Oxford County jail did not seem to have any terrors for him, the Judge gave him 90 days at hard labor in Auburn jail.

From Otisfield to the Philippines.

The Voyage—Tropical Climate—Manila. A Peculiarly of the People—Dillo and Panay—Teachers Led to the Palace Saloon—On an Army Wagon Train. Code of Morals—Schools and Social Life.

Leon, Panay, P. I., October 7, 1901.

I thought to-day that I would write a little on the country here for the Advertiser and give the people at home a chance to get some of my ideas of the Philippines as far as I have seen them, as well as some of my experience. After a little rough weather for a day or two out from San Francisco, during which time the few of us who were not sick had the decks practically to ourselves, we struck fine weather which lasted till our arrival at Manila almost without a break. We stopped at Honolulu for three days so we had a chance to see something of the island of Oahu. As this was the first sight of the tropics for many of us we were doubly interested for everything was new, and truly Honolulu is about all that could be asked for. The climate is almost perfect, the scenery grand and the fruits, flowers and groves all seem to combine to go to make up the ideal home of man. We visited the Ewa sugar plantation. We visited some twenty miles out from Honolulu which is said to be the most productive plantation in the world, and the trip was well worth the sum it cost us, for it was full of interest and instruction.

After being on the sea just a month we landed at Manila on the 23d of August, where we were quartered in army barracks till we could be sent out. As is well known Manila is a walled city, and it looked picturesque and grand to us after our three weeks' confinement. We had to set foot on land and indeed being for some 28 days, out of sight of land. Manila is a picturesque old city, and we enjoyed our stay there very much. Of course before leaving home we had heard of the terrible tropical heat, but in Manila we did not find it nearly as hot as in the hottest summer weather at home, and since I have been on the islands I have not found a night when I could not sleep comfortably under my heavy army blanket. Of course our stay here was filled with some anxiety as to where we were to be sent, and oh, the questions that we asked! And we found one peculiarity about the people here. No matter what the question is or who you ask it will be answered with very explicity, and the less the person asked knows about the subject the more fully and minutely he will answer, which soon gives a man a great fund of information about the islands, the only drawback to which is the insignificance of the teachers a long time to appreciate this fact, and we would hear some worthy pedagogues expounding some new and wonderful doctrine at some length now and then, and on asking him why, if he heard that and that him he would say that he didn't know who the man was, but he knew all about it, and well—perhaps he did, but if he did I am afraid he had kept his knowledge to himself.

I was among the teachers assigned to Panay and we were ordered to leave Manila for Iloilo on the 7th of September. At Iloilo where we landed on the 9th, we were quartered in the Palace. One amusing thing about our landing was that we were told that we could go to the Palace from the boat, and upon asking some "hombres" if they knew where the Palace was and being answered with the regulation "me sabe" we handed over our baggage to them and set out in their trail, and the strange thing was that we were led to the door of the Palace Saloon. I hope it was not because they had sized up the crowd for I had been the one to do the bargaining. After some difficulty we got the hombres to understand that we would try to forego the duty for the present anyway and get them started for the palace again where we arrived after a walk of nearly a mile.

Manila had been announced to us by so many people as the hottest city in the islands that we had come to believe it, but we found Iloilo somewhat hotter while we were there, and one day it was so much like another here that I am inclined to think that Iloilo is a much hotter city than Manila. I was here a week. Iloilo is more or less a city of ruins having been burned by the Insurgents to a great extent. Like all the cities of the islands the streets are narrow and dirty. Here as in Manila we found the native two wheeled carriages drawn by ponies which could be hired with driver for an hour for 25 cents, and there was also the caribau or water buffalo which is the work animal of the natives of the islands. These animals are the slowest things known to science, or anyway I think that statement is not much overdone. They take a step, then they deliberate for some time, and if it seems best they may take another, or they may go to sleep meantime and forget all about the next step. Then on this island we saw some cattle resembling oxen, but the very best of them would not give over a pint of milk per day.

On the 15th of September I set out from Iloilo with my baggage on an army wagon train. I had been informed that in the rainy season the road to Leon was the worst one on the island, and while I haven't seen the others I have no doubt that this assertion is perfectly true. The first few miles were not so bad, but the next two days for a mile team to make the 28 miles it can be judged that it is not an easy road. That night we stayed at Tigbauan, and the next day bright and early we set out again. First there was mud, rocks and all sorts of troubles over which we had to wade. Now and then we would strike a hole and down would go the wheels on the bit side chuch, and there would be a huge grunt from the driver of the mud slide down the road. The next day Jim in the ribs and knocking the wind out of him, and he would barely get it back again so that the blue streaks of profanity might be seen darting out in all directions from that wagon when down would go a wheel on my side till the axle would drag on the ground and he would make a grand dive in my direction and our heads would give a dull, hollow sound as they would come banging together. But at last we reached Leon and I had a chance to look over my field of operations.

I found it a very pretty little city of perhaps 15,000 inhabitants in the foothills of the mountains. There is a negro company of the famous 10th cavalry stationed here, and I found the officers very pleasant. Then there are a number of other Americans here, so I do not regard myself as at all badly off.

I began school on the 18th with some 100 scholars and four Philippine teachers. There are over three hundred scholars enrolled, but many of them are too poor to come to school, for they have no clothing. In color the people vary from the almost pure white of some of

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—When life looked brightest to me I sustained a hard fall and internal complications were the result. I was considerably inflamed, did not feel that I could walk, and lost my good spirits. I spent money doctoring without any help, when a relative visited our home. She was so enthusiastic over Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, having used it herself, that nothing would satisfy her until I sent for a bottle. I have thanked her a hundred times for it since, for it brought blessed health to me and cured me within seven weeks.

I now wish to thank you, your medicine is a friend to suffering women."—LILLIE DEGENKOLBE.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhoea, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone," and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues, and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

The Spanish "Mestizos" to some that are almost as black as negroes, though a sort of chocolate is the prevailing color. Their hair is straight and coarse, and they are of small stature, none of them being more than five feet in height. I should say, though they seem to be quite muscular. They are a treacherous crowd and would lie when it seems to be for their advantage to tell the truth. If they have any code of morals it must be a very peculiar one. All of them smoke, men, women, children and even babies. It is nothing strange to see a four year old youngster, with a black cigar a foot long in his mouth, puffing away like a small steam engine. In school some of them are as bright as the rest, but many of them are dull, and I have one class which I would like to exhibit to any of the Oxford County teachers, for I know that their dullest pupils would seem so much smarter in comparison with these. The people of this section are perhaps the most ignorant to be found in any of the islands. They do not even understand their own language, and none of the children understand Spanish.

Alvina Stuart, who recently opened a millinery parlor at Brownfield, came near losing her life and home. While passing through the open attic with a lighted lamp in her hand, she fell, setting fire to the clothes hanging there. The presence of mind to tear her burning clothes from her and thus escaped. The burning oil ran through the cracks of the floor, setting fire to the building, and when the help from S. J. and F. R. Staples arrived was burning fiercely. By quick work and tearing down of a ceiling the damage was slight.

Caution for Girls.
The editor of an exchange remarks that he always feels sorry for a girl who clings to a fellow who will spend a dollar for her to go to a dance, and then three for a Sunday buggy ride for her on a six-dollars-a-week salary, and sees visions of bare-footed children, a frouzy-headed woman over the washbub, tin cans for dishes on the table, and a combination of a corn cob pipe and a man in the kitchen corner. The young man who lives within his means while single, usually has means after he is married.

Children's Corner.

Little Girl's Home Life.

South Paris, Me., Nov. 18, 1901.
MR. EDITOR:—I thought I would write a few lines for your paper. I am a girl ten years old, I shall be eleven pretty soon. I have a sister that is four years old. My papa has one horse and two cows and 80 or 100 hens. My little sister likes to have me haul her now the snow is on the ground. My papa has sold his farm and has bought a place down to the village. Yours sincerely, EFFIE E. HARDY.

A Rare Bargain.

Two little Norway boys were examining the gaily painted sleds set out in front of Stone's. Another came along drawing a sled. While it was not as brightly colored as the new ones the sled looked as though some boy had spent many happy hours with it.
"How much did your sled cost you?" asked one.
"Did not cost me nothing," was the reply.
"Where did you buy it?" was the next question with a deep breath of surprise.

A New Swear Word.

Children are prone to use swear-words probably because they know they are a little off color. The perversion of human nature shows itself in this. One little three-year-old boy in town who has shown a disposition that way and has been duly corrected, has hit upon a new word for an expletive which sounds remarkably like a swear-word and for the use of which, so far, he has not been reproved—Oologoss.

Some Queer Fashions.

In "Fashions' Notes" we read the following: Braiding this year will be in larger letters than usual. Some unique Roman embroideries are shown, reading "Shoot the Other Way," as well as arabesque designs showing the words "Danger," "Warning," "I'm No Dear," and "Don't Make Game of Me," intertwined in artistic scrolls. The trimming will be of sleigh bells.

What's the secret of happy, vigorous health? Simply keeping the bowels, the stomach, the nerves in frequent, when the tongue is foul, breath bad or the sleep disturbed give it a few doses of TRUE'S Pin Worm ELIXIR.

A Few Bicycle Questions.

Oxford, Maine, Nov. 18th, 1901.
EDITOR OF THE ADVERTISER:—I wish through your columns to ask a question on the bicycle question, and that is, what are the rights of a foot-passenger on a village sidewalk at the time a bicycle and its rider approach, either from front or rear of said person?

I will give an instance which I think perhaps has not come to your notice. On an evening of last August (the 22d day) my wife was walking on the sidewalk when a bicycle, ridden by one of our village young ladies, approached from the rear and, although the bell was rung, she was knocked down and with difficulty walked home, and there has not been a day since (three months next Saturday) that she has not suffered pain and inconvenience from the blow which her foot received, it being strained on the top of it the whole length. I have been told by a neighbor that when she asked the above mentioned bicyclist if she knew how badly Mrs. Fisher was hurt, replied "Get her kept off the sidewalk then," a safe way truly for pedestrians, but not always convenient or pleasant in mud time. Is there any redress by law or otherwise? I ride myself but always intend to "slow down" on meeting or passing a pedestrian.

A scotcher ran into me two years ago, we both being mounted, and we had a severe collision, which took me all of a month to recover from, beside breaking my machine to the extent of $2.00 worth. Yours truly, NATHANIEL FISHER.

Oxford Girl a Talented Writer.

We publish herewith an extract from one of Heloise E. Hersey's latest books. Miss Hersey is the daughter of Dr. Hersey of Oxford village and well known in that town. She is principally engaged at present lecturing upon Browning, and her work is of a high literary standard.

"Two travellers meet on a wide plain. Each is weary and lonely. After one instant of surprised silence, one says to the other:
"Where come you?"
"I do not know. And you?"
"I know not. And whither are you going?"
"Into some strange and unknown land. And you?"
"I do not know."

Will not these lonely wanderers join hands, and rejoice that at least in this mysterious and perplexing journey they need not fare alone? Is human fellowship and human sympathy less natural because the pilgrims are not two, but a strong which no man can number? Mistaken, indeed, is she who, out of exclusiveness which she calls superiority, lingers on the edges of the crowd, nor hastens to lend her aid wherever the wicked, the weary, or the faltering, need her service.

"God does not judge us so much by our success in overcoming evil, but by the fight we put up against evil, and He has promised that when we put up our best fight against evil He will not see us overcome."

Have you heard that the U. S. Separator won the Gold Medal, the Highest Award at the Pan-American Exposition, Buffalo, N. Y., for its design and ease of management? They are the best and a necessity that no dairyman who makes butter or sells cream can afford to do without.

I am agent for these Powers and Separators, or any other Dairy Machinery, manufactured by Vermont Farm Machine Co., and can save you money. If interested call on or write me. Will tell of something new in Fire Extinguishers next time.
